Nestled in the beautiful Adelaide Hills town of Macclesfield is this 1860's cottage, named after its original owner John Cummins. Built of the local stone this lovely cottage has been fully renovated to make it modern and comfortable throughout. The kitchen is stainless steel with a tiled floor and the modern bathroom and laundry have plenty of room with lots of storage in the laundry. The bedrooms are spacious with built in robes in master and 2nd bedroom. Parquetry flooring in the master and through into the lounge. The rear door leads out to the huge deck with a magnificent vista to the creek which runs through the property. Your own private bridge crosses the creek to the Studio in the lower part of the back garden just waiting to be used as a quiet space to paint or reflect. On hot days it is the perfect shady retreat. There is a fenced area for the
