A rare and genuine opportunity in one of Adelaide's most tightly held pockets, a corner allotment in Goodwood offered with demolition approval already secured.

Heritage overlay sites within the City of Unley are subject to a rigorous planning framework, and demolition approval is by no means guaranteed. Many applications of this nature do not succeed. Here, that outcome has already been achieved, delivering a true blank canvas ready for your own design and build, without the uncertainty that stands between purchase and construction for most sites of this kind.

Add to that a corner position, and the versatility on offer here is rare for a single residential block. Corner blocks
